

Buddy to Boss: Smoothing the Transition to Company Officer

The most challenging transition within the fire service is the move from peer to supervisor. Nothing impacts the performance of the organization more so than the first-line company officer. This session examines the role of the first-line supervisor, challenges to their success, and identifies strong management skills and behaviors that make effective leaders.

This program was developed and is presented by:
Richard C. Kline, Senior Associate